

Chemical and Technical Commodities

FDB (COOP) had own factories for a range of everyday goods. The one in Viby made chemical and technical household articles.

Knud Møller was a fine colleague and we got friends for life.

We made the first fluorinated toothpaste in Denmark and introduced modern non-soap shampoos.

Knud imported pine tar from Finland for wood preservation and PVA from Spain for latex paints. Together we designed a series of paint and lacquer and followed up with a new line of fine cosmetics.

The board did not support these new product lines. Maybe it was wise, but I got bored and left the company 1964 - being there since 1961.

Some experiments with soy-based artificial milk were continued many years later.
